Background

Integrated Care Board

Across England areas are working to integrate services through greater collaboration. The NHS Long Term Plan set out that every area is expected to become an integrated care system (ICS).

Networks enable connections and relationships between individuals, increasing communication, interaction and collaboration and the flow of knowledge and learning as well as development of communities. Networks are important in the generation of innovation and in the acceptance, adoption and adaption of the innovation. (NHS England www.englandnhs.uk)

Our aim is to help provide a platform for ICS commissioners and providers to discuss how they can work together to improve services and health outcomes. Our initiative will also allow you to network and share best practice across ICP boundaries. This will provide a platform to showcase examples of brilliant care. We truly hope this platform assists in better networking and collaboration.
